The Stag
Mackenzie High School

Detroit, Michigan

June, 1961

Hello, I would like to introduce myself, but I really don't have a name. I am what most people call a silent observer. I have been at Mackenzie for quite a while now, since 1928, and that is a long time. I have seen many come and go and many changes take place. A new addition to the school, changes in the faculty, in fads, etc., are just a few that have taken place.

I would like to show you Mackenzie, so please allow me to be your guide through Mackenzie High School of which ever so many are justly proud.

For some of you this is your first look. You are probably freshmen just starting out in high school and just beginning to see what fun and new responsibilities lie ahead of you. Others are in the midst of their sophomore or junior year and have accepted responsibilities and are having fun by joining clubs and service activities.

And our seniors, for them this will be their final Stag and Mackenzie will be their 'alma mater'.

Hi, here I am again. I would like to introduce you to Mackenzie's faculty. To them we all owe so much for the many times that they have been willing to help us with our problems and for the continuing interest they took in us. We owe them a lot for the fine support they have given our clubs and extra-curricular activities. We are indebted to them for all they have done in helping to get us started properly on the path of life.

Administration

To Mackenzie Students:

In many ways the semester just ending has been a very successful one at Mackenzie. For each individual student important events have occurred. In most cases these events have been rewarding and enjoyable.

To our June graduates we offer congratulations and sincere wishes for continued success. Wherever life's work takes you during your future years we hope that memories of Mackenzie High School will be with you often and that the successes achieved here will be helpful in all your undertakings.

To those students who will be returning to school next fall we extend best wishes for a fine and happy vacation. We hope you will find the summer weeks filled with all of the pleasant times you have been anticipating.

Clarence H. Hiller
Principal

Sincerely,

Clarence H. Hiller

The Mark of a Schoolman

The impact of decisions made in the principal's office on 3000 students and 125 staff members can only be roughly approximated. It is best estimated by the sense of well being that all feel when the school has a clearly understood educational purpose and operating policies consistent with that purpose.

Mr. Hiller, who now retires, has in less than two years left the mark of a highly qualified professional school administrator on Mackenzie High School.

There can be no higher praise for a schoolman and no one more deserving than Clarence H. Hiller. With gratitude and appreciation, Mackenzie extends to him best wishes for the future.

Activi

Yep, it's me again - your guide. Here we are in what is the real life of the school--our school organizations. This is where students can make use of some of their time for constructive purposes. Besides, there's plenty of fun to be had and many new friends to be made. It's a place where benefits work two ways - you get good from belonging and you also contribute something - all of which goes toward building a good school spirit. Hope you enjoy turning the pages in this section by seeing lots of your friends and, of course, you may see yourself too.

You Can't Take It With You

"You Can't Take It With You" is a humorous play centered around the Sycamore family whose peculiar customs and ways of living almost break up the romance of one of its members.

The first scene opens with the mother, a playwright, banging on her typewriter, her daughter Essie, a ballet dancer doing her exercises and the maid, Rhea in the kitchen. The entrance of the Russian ballet master, Kolenkhov, Miss Gay Wellington, an actress, and Grampa who has a hobby of collecting snakes adds to the humor of the play.

There is a love scene between the other daughter, Alice and her employer's son. She refuses to marry him because they live in two different worlds.

After all conflicting events are solved, we find that the Sycamore family returns to its usual way of living.

I'm still with you as your guide. Here we are in the Senior section, those people who have finished their four years. Some have done so with mixed feelings, joy upon having finished and sorrow because they have to leave the halls of Mackenzie High.

Yet, go they must because they have finished their work here. They are now set to go out into life and make their contribution to society. We wish them well!

President's Message

Although the time has come for us to leave Mackenzie, our beloved alma mater will never leave our thoughts or hearts. Our experiences at Mackenzie, rich, exciting, and extraordinary will be transformed into fond memories in the years to come. We will always remember the blue and grey colors we respected and fought for in so many ways, the unequalled and exciting snow trip and senior cruise, and especially the friends and teachers from whom we have obtained a wealth of knowledge.

We have come one step closer to the day when we will become a part of the greatest era of all times, an era of miraculous scientific development, enormous industrial expansion, and peace threatening turbulence between nations. We will be needed and depended on to continue our country's progress in a multitude of ways and to decrease strife and conflict in an attempt to create a lasting world peace.

This grave challenge that awaits us fills our minds with exciting, mysterious, and frightening visions. From Mackenzie we have obtained the raw materials of knowledge, reasoning, endurance, and courage that can enable us to overcome such fears and successfully meet these challenges. It is now up to us to make use of these valuable tools in whatever field of endeavor we decide to pursue. It is up to us to be ambitious about and do our best in everything we do. America's future is like putty in our hands. It is up to us to mold the dreams of today into the realities of tomorrow and create a stronger and richer America.

Foreign Exchange Student

Zarin Randeria

Karachi, Pakistan

This past year at Mackenzie High has been really the most wonderful year of my whole life. I have loved every minute of my stay here and I don't think I can ever forget the fun I had. The whole year has been full of pleasant memories which I will always remember.

All this has been due to the great kindness, interest, and understanding of teachers, counselors, and kids alike. I have gotten to know many friendly kids during the past year, in classes, student council, different clubs and on Mackenzie trips and at games and social affairs. The classes here have been more interesting than the ones in Karachi, Pakistan, due to the informed way of teaching here. In Karachi, the classes were more formal and only the teachers talked and gave lectures with very little student participation.

My main purpose in coming here was to gain an understanding of American people, their customs and way of living. I have really accomplished this purpose in this past year. This understanding has been contributed by all the people with whom I have come in contact. Now, I have a higher respect for Americans and their ways of life than I ever had before. One of the things which surprised me most was the kindness and generosity and friendliness of the people. I don't think I can ever forget the way in which so many people greet me with a friendly "Hi" in the halls.

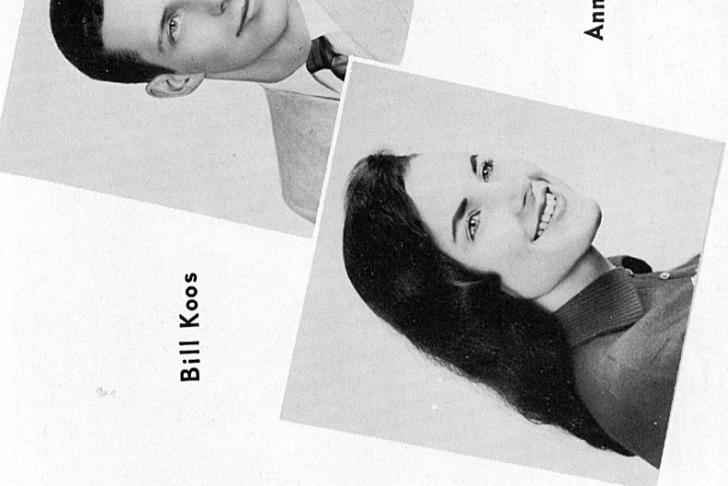

These little greetings have made me feel very welcome and "one of the group". Thank you all very much for making my year such a happy one.

Zarin

Class Diary

by Orleen Mamshur

We're a big class. We have a high scholastic rating. We've been mischievous. We've braved many administrative changes--principals, counselors. We've witnessed a tightening of standards. We've been very active in school activities. We've initiated many new teachers. We were 10th graders when the Dial changed its format. Over a period of four years, we've been through laughs, sadness and disappointments but most all of us can say that these four years have been the most fun yet.

In June 1957 it seemed that grade school graduation would never come -- and then it did. Summer vacation seemed long that year because for the first time we actually wanted to start school. We had been told that everything would be different and we wanted to see for ourselves. There was one thing which aided us in getting adapted to high school quickly - we were bigger than the Senior class--in number. We felt secure. We realized that classes were different....that we had homework....that we were on our own and when the teacher said "as you learned in the seventh grade," we realized that we knew so little. It surprised us that the library was so big....that we had to read so much....that the halls were so noisy and that no one asked us to buy elevator passes or gave us wrong directions. It was the first time that we could buy a yearbook....that we could not go home for lunch....that we needed bus cards and that we had our own school publication. We hated 10th hour, homework, not being able to join clubs, alphabetical seating....and walking into games late because we were not excused until 3:30. We enjoyed the Song Fests, auditorium programs, concerts and plays and the new friendships we had made. We wanted--to be sophomores.

We're sophomores! The kids from Tappan have come. We wondered what they'd be like and they are really "on the ball." They seem to have gotten used to Mackenzie life very quickly. The membership in the Latin Club goes up. Initiation brings groans from the teachers and laughs from us. Biology classes just before lunch just don't hit the spot. The answers to the lab manual are only found on someone else's answer sheet. We realize that the Junior Student Council is really in existence. In Comp. 2 Journalism we bring a new teacher into our fold. The Journalism Club meeting will never be forgotten. We begin to see people we know in the Dial. We realize the importance of the foreign exchange student. We do our driver's training homework before all the rest. We see the kids we know participating in sports. We're going to be Juniors.

Now we're upperclassmen. We readily elect our Class Congress representatives. We have a Drop-In, with a talent show. We use a life raft to get through physics and advanced algebra. We begin to realize how important grades are. We start thinking about National Honor Society. We come to more school events. The boys get their licenses. More of us begin to go to the Band Bounces. The AFS Program and Fantasma prove to us that Student Council does do something. We see "our boys" in sports. For the first time, boys try out for cheerleaders. We go to the "shirt-tearing" Student Faculty Game. Else and Ulrich, foreign exchange students in our school for a year become our friends. Comp. 3 presents headaches and a challenge. It seems that copies of Hidden Persuaders and 1984 are floating around the school. Everyone is thinking about brief cases. We have a "snowless," but not a "funless," Snow Trip. The circle pins come into style. Tina Dimitroff and Pat Eubank go abroad during the summer as AFS students representing Mackenzie. It is the first time that two students from our school have been picked. Stag signers seem to have drifted from the "Best of luck to you in the future" theme.

We're 12B's, but can't really believe it. Delicious odors from the 207-213 end of the building waft through the corridors. Short skirts and beeblives come into style along with ideas for clothing codes. Our friends become dearer and we begin to find something nice about the person we've always disliked. A "Pakistani Package" comes to us with a bright smile, sparkling brown eyes and a long black braid. We see the 12A's handing out pictures. We have our first class elections. Campaigning is the most fun of all. We give up homework and let Poster Parties get the best of us. We get to know Miss Tonkin as we begin to think about our future. The Washington Trip time comes and many of us are broke. We're quite disappointed because all of our friends can't go. We go anyway and have a fantastic time. Candid pictures are passed around a week later. We learn to like Shakespeare or pretend to. We hear lots of poetry and understand less than half. We have another Drop-In. Honor Guards are chosen for the January Graduation. Our 12A friends leave us. There's nothing above us now.

Finally--12A's. We start the term off in "cool fashion" Was it one or two above and why wouldn't the teachers let us get into the cars? We wait for our Senior pins and after seven weeks of waiting we wear them very proudly. We start to count pennies. It seems we're always ordering something. We learn the number of Craine's by heart. We buy our Stags. We go through elections in a flurry, but we'll never forget that we were the first class to have so many people running for office. Can we ever forget Senior Math? We try to get through the halls without passes. We begin saving things. We have to go to every event because it's the last. Everything seems to happen all at once and we don't have time for everything, but we find it--2:00 AM. Pictures are passed out. Term papers, well--we learned to use the main library, but what a relief when they were done. Teachers seem to be wanting to give us the "best possible education," and we're not in the mood for homework. We see the weeks literally flying by and we wonder where four years have gone. Graduation, which once seemed so far away is now only three days away.

We remember when we started Mackenzie, and how we thought four years was so long. We realize that the work and fun and friends that we have had through high school have become a part of us. We want to graduate but...the noisy halls, the pushy lunch lines, the homework, the hard teachers...we're going to miss them. We see the long road ahead with the responsibilities that we must assume. We thank our teachers and our parents for guiding us. We know that life will be hard--we've been told--yet the hardest thing for us now is to leave our friends and take separate paths. Let's have a reunion next December!
